

A scatter plot showing a dense, elongated horizontal distribution of blue points. The distribution is centered around a horizontal line and tapers slightly towards the right. The points are most concentrated in the center and become more sparse towards the edges and the right side.

without space-charge

A scatter plot showing a dense, elongated horizontal distribution of blue points, similar to the one above. However, there is a single, distinct yellow point located near the center of the distribution. The overall shape and density of the blue points are consistent with the top plot.

with space-charge